

FOR LITTLE ONES

Go-Carts

That Go.
Fresh Air and Sunshine
Make Rosy-Cheeked
Babies.

Our store now reminds one of a babyland. The spring stock of Go-Carts and Carriages is ready for your admiration—for your selection. Go-Carts for luxury-loving, but economically-inclined mothers, light and easy-running—rubber tires—in many styles and many prices.

$7.50, $12.50, $15.00, up to $40.00.

Carriages made in the same good quality, $10 up to $35.

We'd be pleased to have you look them over.

Ryan, Smith &amp; Talman

Furniture, Floor Coverings, Stoves, &c.

609 East Broad Street.

A TRIBUTE TO MISS

ROBBIE M. YAGER

Action of the City Council Regarding the Young Nurse Who Died at Her Post.

Richmond, Va., February 17, 1903. At a meeting of the Common Council, February 12, 1903, the following report of the Committee on Relief of the Poor was read, and the preambles and resolutions were adopted by a unanimous vote. The preambles and resolutions were concurred in by a unanimous vote of the Board of Aldermen on February 10, 1903, and were approved by the Mayor February 12, 1903.

THE REPORT.

It becomes the sad duty of the Committee on Relief of the Poor to announce to the Council the death of Miss Robbie M. Yager, one of the pupil nurses at the City Hospital, under circumstances which deserve special recognition.

Smallpox broke out in the City Hospital in the latter part of December, 1902. The officers, physicians and nurses, despite the personal danger to themselves, were untiring in their attentions to those stricken with the dread disease.

Only two nurses were available for duty, Miss Robbie M. Yager and Miss Fannie Carr, neither of whom were immune. With a rare devotion to duty, and in its unselfishness, these two noble women labored and untiringly nursed the smallpox patients, disregarding the danger to themselves in so doing. Miss Yager herself was finally attacked by the disease, to which, after one week's illness, through which she was faithfully nursed by Miss Carr, she yielded up her noble young life. It is eminently proper, in the judgment of the Committee, that the Council should take appropriate action to honor the memory of one who sacrificed her life so heroically in the service of the city and her fellow-man, and we therefore recommend the adoption of the accompanying resolutions.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, Miss Robbie M. Yager, a pupil nurse at the City Hospital, on January 3, 1903, died from smallpox, contracted at that institution while nursing patients stricken with the dread disease, and

Whereas, such unexcelled courage and unselfish devotion to duty calls for the greatest admiration and the highest recognition possible; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Council of the City of Richmond, the Board of Aldermen concurring:

1. That a suitable memorial be erected to the memory of Miss Yager, either at her grave or at the City Administration Building, in the place of the memorial to the Committee on Relief of the Poor.

2. That a copy of the report of the Committee on Relief of the Poor, announcing the death of Miss Yager, together with a copy of this preamble and resolution, be spread upon the minutes of both branches of the City Council, and copies thereof be published in the daily papers of this city and be sent to the family of Miss Yager.

3. That the Council of the City of Richmond, the Board of Aldermen concurring, that $250, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be appropriated to erect a memorial to the late

ANAEMOTROPY.

Do You Recognize It?

When land is used and not fertilized it soon becomes worked out, and the crops yield but poor and small. So when your body is not properly selected food is used, the body runs down and the blood becomes impoverished.

Physicians call it anaemotropy. (Deficient blood.) It was necessary to change the food to enrich the blood and strengthen the organs and muscles and brace up the nerves with a good diet. Her stomach and entire system were in revolt against pasty indigestible compounds and partly cooked cereals, and the overworked organs protested against being longer overburdened.

"One day I bought a package of Grape-Nuts, and she began using them at once. Not only did she relish the delicate flavor but her stomach received them without protest."

"At breakfast and supper this was her only food, save occasionally a cracker with jelly. In a week or so her cheeks had taken on a tinge of red, and her strength had visibly increased. The doctor congratulated himself and her upon her recovery. He could hardly believe it possible then, but now he is a steady user of Grape-Nuts himself. To-day her general health is vastly improved, her weight has increased 15 pounds, and she is eating whatever she likes, her digestion being perfect."

"I attribute this to the increased nourishment and rest given to the digestive organs by the use of Grape-Nuts. We cannot say too much in honest and well-earned praise of it. Name given by Nature Co., Battle Creek, Mich."

Commissioner of Agriculture

Kolner Is Asked to Furnish Information.

Commissioner Kolner is a busy official. A Times-Dispatch man found him yesterday at his desk, with a pile of mail heaped before him, which meant a good day's work, even for a man who was not to be interrupted by a stream of callers, each of whom wished information on various subjects connected with the office of the Department of Agriculture. This pile of letters, however, was simply the usual day's mail, and a similar batch of correspondence is disposed of by the Commissioner every day. The great majority of the letters received at the department from farmers throughout the State many of whom look to the Commissioner for all the information they desire in connection with their calling. The Commissioner has any number of regular correspondents, who do not hesitate to write him upon all subjects upon which they need advice. Judging by the Commissioner's daily correspondence, Mr. Kolner certainly enjoys the confidence of the farmers of the State.

Among the letters received yesterday at the department from outside the State was one from C. M. Snow, of No. 9 Rega building, Octagon, Danville, New Zealand. The New Zealanders stated that they desired information in regard to the resources of the State, as it was likely that a party of eight or ten from his country would be visiting the State, and Mr. Kolner furnished at length the desired information.

The Virginia Commissioners to the St. Louis Exposition held a long session Monday, and formulated plans for their work.

Mr. Stearnes Secures Rider on Tax Bill Prohibiting the Keeping or Operating of Such Devices for Gambling Purposes—Notes.

The Legislature did a fine day's work yesterday, both houses having held long sessions.

The House made great progress with the consideration of the omnibus revenue bill, and it was read to its conclusion by the clerk. A large number of amendments were offered, but those of greatest importance were passed by and will be taken up when the bill is put upon its engrossment, which will be its final amendment stage.

The most important matter disposed of in the way of amendment was the substitute offered by Mr. Cardwell for the section of the bill which proposed to put social clubs on the same footing with bar-rooms in the matter of obtaining liquor licenses and in the handling of liquors for their members.

The substitute was finally adopted by a vote of 23 to 25. It practically leaves the law as at present with some additional restrictions and safeguards. The members of social clubs, according to the bill, are to continue to pay $1 each to the State. The members of monthly statements as to the transactions are to be made by the club officers to the courts.

Another amendment of great interest was that offered by Mr. Stearnes, of Newport News, prohibiting the operation of slot machines as gambling devices in the State. Mr. Stearnes said he had offered a separate bill on this line, but had been unable to get a report upon it from the committee.

Mr. Rice presented an amendment placing a tax of $50 upon persons for the privilege of selling pistols, and it went over without action.

Mr. Newhouse created great excitement by introducing the tax which was proposed to be a prohibitory one, and if so would it not be proper to except the county of Amherst, on the ground that her people were now in a state of war.

Mr. Slicer accompanied her in the city who had heard him preach in the morning, anxious to hear the second sermon. Mr. Slicer is an able speaker. He appeals to the soul of his listeners, whose attention he holds from beginning to the end. The prayer which was read by the Rev. W. B. Beauchamp.

Memorial Service.

A memorial service in honor of Frances Willard will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Broad-Street Methodist Church by the Central Woman's Christian Temperance Union. An address will be delivered by the pastor of the church, the Rev. W. B. Beauchamp.

Mr. Whitaker Appointed.

By an order entered in the United States Circuit Court yesterday by Judge States Circuit Court yesterday by Judges Goff and Venable, Mr. J. N. Whitaker was appointed official stenographer for this court. Judge Venable also entered an order appointing Mr. Whitaker stenographer for the district court.

Miss Robbie M. Yager, to be expended under the direction of the Committee on Relief of the Poor.

A true copy from the record. BEN T. TRUST, City Clerk.

Mr. Whitaker Appointed.

By an order entered in the United States Circuit Court yesterday by Judge States Circuit Court yesterday by Judges Goff and Venable, Mr. J. N. Whitaker was appointed official stenographer for this court. Judge Venable also entered an order appointing Mr. Whitaker stenographer for the district court.

CLUB PEOPLE WINN HOUSE

Body Adopts Substitute of Mr. Cardwell.

AFTER SLOT MACHINES

Mr. Stearnes Secures Rider on Tax Bill Prohibiting the Keeping or Operating of Such Devices for Gambling Purposes—Notes.

The Legislature did a fine day's work yesterday, both houses having held long sessions.

The House made great progress with the consideration of the omnibus revenue bill, and it was read to its conclusion by the clerk. A large number of amendments were offered, but those of greatest importance were passed by and will be taken up when the bill is put upon its engrossment, which will be its final amendment stage.

The most important matter disposed of in the way of amendment was the substitute offered by Mr. Cardwell for the section of the bill which proposed to put social clubs on the same footing with bar-rooms in the matter of obtaining liquor licenses and in the handling of liquors for their members.

The substitute was finally adopted by a vote of 23 to 25. It practically leaves the law as at present with some additional restrictions and safeguards. The members of social clubs, according to the bill, are to continue to pay $1 each to the State. The members of monthly statements as to the transactions are to be made by the club officers to the courts.

Another amendment of great interest was that offered by Mr. Stearnes, of Newport News, prohibiting the operation of slot machines as gambling devices in the State. Mr. Stearnes said he had offered a separate bill on this line, but had been unable to get a report upon it from the committee.

Mr. Rice presented an amendment placing a tax of $50 upon persons for the privilege of selling pistols, and it went over without action.

Mr. Newhouse created great excitement by introducing the tax which was proposed to be a prohibitory one, and if so would it not be proper to except the county of Amherst, on the ground that her people were now in a state of war.

Mr. Slicer accompanied her in the city who had heard him preach in the morning, anxious to hear the second sermon. Mr. Slicer is an able speaker. He appeals to the soul of his listeners, whose attention he holds from beginning to the end. The prayer which was read by the Rev. W. B. Beauchamp.

Memorial Service.

A memorial service in honor of Frances Willard will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Broad-Street Methodist Church by the Central Woman's Christian Temperance Union. An address will be delivered by the pastor of the church, the Rev. W. B. Beauchamp.

Mr. Whitaker Appointed.

By an order entered in the United States Circuit Court yesterday by Judge States Circuit Court yesterday by Judges Goff and Venable, Mr. J. N. Whitaker was appointed official stenographer for this court. Judge Venable also entered an order appointing Mr. Whitaker stenographer for the district court.

Miss Robbie M. Yager, to be expended under the direction of the Committee on Relief of the Poor.

A true copy from the record. BEN T. TRUST, City Clerk.

Mr. Whitaker Appointed.

By an order entered in the United States Circuit Court yesterday by Judge States Circuit Court yesterday by Judges Goff and Venable, Mr. J. N. Whitaker was appointed official stenographer for this court. Judge Venable also entered an order appointing Mr. Whitaker stenographer for the district court.

Miss Robbie M. Yager, to be expended under the direction of the Committee on Relief of the Poor.

A true copy from the record. BEN T. TRUST, City Clerk.

SUPERIORITY VERSUS INFERIORITY.

YOU can wear out a pair of shoes trying to find a piano superior to the CABLE, but you can find pianos inferior without walking far enough to irritate a pet corn.

This is the store where prices and quality is guaranteed as well as the PIANO.

CASH OR SMALL MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

Why Let Your Piano Remain Idle Simply Because No One in the Family Plays ???

Let us attach one of the great Chase & Baker Piano-Players, which will fill your HOME with music. No experience required. A ten-year-old child can operate it. SOLD ON EASY TERMS.

WE CARRY A FULL STOCK OF EDISON PHONOGRAPHS, VICTOR AND ZONOPHONE TALKING MACHINES. These instruments are sold at the lowest prices, and satisfaction guaranteed.

Twenty Second-Hand Pianos taken in exchange on the famous CABLE PIANOS for sale this week from $50 to $150; terms, $3 per month.

THE CABLE ..CO..

The Biggest and Oldest Broadway Street Music House.
213 East Broad Street.
J. G. CORLEY, - - Manager.

clubs are desirable, they should be permitted to grow naturally and upon reasonable and just terms with those who are to be annexed.

MR. COGBILL'S REPLY.

Mr. Cogbill, a man small of stature but of a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

Mr. Cogbill argued forcibly against the passage of a measure which, he said, would be a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

Mr. Cogbill argued forcibly against the passage of a measure which, he said, would be a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

Mr. Cogbill argued forcibly against the passage of a measure which, he said, would be a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

Mr. Cogbill argued forcibly against the passage of a measure which, he said, would be a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

Mr. Cogbill argued forcibly against the passage of a measure which, he said, would be a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

Mr. Cogbill argued forcibly against the passage of a measure which, he said, would be a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

Mr. Cogbill argued forcibly against the passage of a measure which, he said, would be a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

Mr. Cogbill argued forcibly against the passage of a measure which, he said, would be a whole bunch of intellect and energy, replied to Mr. Anderson, to whom he paid a high compliment. Mr. Cogbill advocated his own bill, which is the same of that of the Gardner bill in the House, which gives the people proposed to be annexed the right to say whether or not they wish to be taken into the corporate limits.

of Page to borrow money and build bridges.

By Mr. Baker, of Chesterfield—To amend Section 281 of the Code.

By Mr. Hunley—To authorize supervisors of Gloucester to borrow money.

When the consideration of the general tax bill was resumed as a special order, Mr. Baker, of Chesterfield, moved that the matter be taken up in Committee of the Whole, but this was rejected.

Mr. Baker moved to amend the bill as to relieve osteopaths, healers and Christian Scientists of a license tax, but the matter went by and was not acted upon. There were a number of other amendments proposed, but most of them went over without action.

Mr. Stearnes moved to amend by putting veterinary surgeons on the same footing with medical doctors and said he did it at the request of the surgeons, who waited protection. The amendment was advocated by Mr. Snead and opposed by Mr. Sipe. It finally went by on motion of Mr. Boaz.

Mr. Stearnes moved to amend so as to prohibit the operation of slot machines, which are run as a game of chance.

ONLY FOR REVENUE.

Mr. Boaz objected to the amendments on the ground that the bill was designed as a code of penal statutes. Mr. Stearnes spoke earnestly for his amendment, and related the trials he had experienced in getting his anti-slot machine bill acted upon. Mr. Mori spoke for the amendment. It was opposed by Mr. Hunley. Mr. Sipe moved to amend, and it was advocated by Mr. Davis.

The latter spoke for the boys and said the temptation should not be put in their way to learn to gamble.

The amendment, Mr. Stearnes was adopted by the sound, but a division was demanded by Mr. Southall, and the vote stood ayes, 23; noes, 25; so it was adopted.

While the above section was under discussion, Miss Grace Arens brought her kindergarten from St. Andrew's Church into the gallery of the House, and some one remarked that it was the "chewing gum brigade." The members of the House greatly interested in the bright little faces and curly heads that hung over the railing of the western gallery, and the latter seemed delighted with the pleasure of watching the Legislators at work.

Mr. Rice moved to amend by fixing the license for selling pistols at $50 instead of $30 as in the bill. Mr. Mori opposed this in a strong speech, and it was advocated by Mr. Rice. Mr. Cardwell further moved to amend by prohibiting the sale of pistols, except to those authorized by law to carry them, and the matter went over without action by consent.

When the liquor license section was reached Mr. Davis, of Petersburg, gave notice that at another time he would offer an amendment creating an excise tax for each of the counties and cities of the State, so as to allow the applicant two chances of success. The object is to allow appeal from the said board to the Circuit Court, and thence to the Court of Appeals. In order to afford the opportunities now given on this subject the board is to be proposed, for the reason that the County Court system has been abolished, and the present tribunals, before which application is made.

SUBSTITUTE ADOPTED.

Mr. Cardwell offered an amendment in the nature of a substitute for the section taxing social clubs in like manner as bar-rooms.

The substitute provides that each member shall pay to the State $1.00, as at present; that the clubs shall be permanent ones; that the members shall be sworn to the transactions be made to the Corporation Courts and other safeguards were thrown around the various communities against what are known as "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.

In answer to a question by Mr. Mori, Mr. Cardwell said he thought the effect of the passage of the section as proposed by the committee would be to break up the best clubs in the cities as they would be "fake" clubs. Mr. Cogbill spoke against the substitute and was vigorously opposed by Messrs. Folkes and Mori, the former declaring that all persons who sold liquor should be put on the same footing.

Mr. Cogbill said that the proposed substitute, and contended that as a revenue measure it was better than the proposition of the committee on the subject.